MITCHELL IS DEAD!

Senator from Oregon Died at Portland Hospital Friday Morning.

DENTAL WORK FATAL

Violent Hemorrhages Followed Extracting of Four Teeth Thursday Forenoon.

PHYSICIANS SKILL DID NOT AVAIL

Portland, Ore., December 9th.—United States Senator John H. Mitchell died at the Good Smaritan hospital in this city Friday, death resulting from complications which followed the removal of four teeth at the dental office yesterday morning A hemorrhage of unusual severity followed the removal of the teeth, and despite the application of the most powerful styptics known to dental science the flow of blood could not be stayed. Physicians were summoned to the dental office, but the combined scientific knowledge of the dentists and physicians could not stop the flow of blood. The Senator's condition soon became alarming and it was determined to remove him to the hospital. When the Senator reached there he was in a very weakened condition, and it became apparent that unless the flow of blood was soon stopped he would die.

Senator Mitchell had long been a sufferer from diabetes and other vitiating diseases, and in his weakened physical condition rapidly succumbed to inevitable weakness following such violent hemorrhages and lapsed into a state of semi-consciousness early in the evening.

GIVE ONLY TEMPORARY RELIEF.

Four physicians, Dr. A. J. Giesy, Dr. George W. Wilson, Dr. Emil Pohl and Dr. James O. C. Wiley, worked over the Senator, and about 7 o'clock Thursday night temporarily stopped the hemorrhages, but the relief was of but short duration and again the blood began to flow intermittently, continuing during the evening and through the night. At an early hour Friday morning a severe vomiting spell further weakened the Senator and it became more and more apparent that the end was approaching.

All during the night saline solution was injected into the veins to furnish more fluid for the circulatory system and to stimulate the sluggish circulation.

POWERFUL STIMULANTS USED.

The diabetec coma into which the Senator lapsed grew more and more pronounced, despite the frequent use of powerful stimulants, and only occasional evidences of a certain degree of mental activity rewarded the untiring efforts of the phisicians and nurses in attendance. Several hours before death the injection of saline solution was discontinued and more powerful heart stimulants resorted to, but with no effect on the rapidly sinking man. After daylight the Senator's condition grew worse and pronounced indications of mortification became evident, especially in the ankles, knees and hips.

Several hours before death the action of the heart at times became almost imperceptible, and the breath came in short spasmodic gasps. As the end approached the symptoms became more and more pronounced, death ensuing at 11:40 o'clock.

FAILED TO REALIZE CONDITION

Senator Mitchill did not, at any time; realize the seriousnes of his condition. When he visited the dental office Thursday he was in a weakened condition owing to the disease which affected him and his request that an anaesthetic be administered was declined, the dentist persuading him that such a course might prove harmful. The first three teeth were extracted with little or no trouble, the flow of blood being normal. The extracting of the fourth tooth was a difficult task, and it was following the removal of this that the violent hemorrhage manifested itself.

PENDING SUIT WILL ABATE.

Washington, Dec. 8.—The case against Senator Mitchell, which had been appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States, will abate by reason of his death. He had just paid $850 to the clerk of the court for the printing of the record in the case, but as the work had not been ordered the money will be refunded to his estate.

GEORGE A. HARBAUGH.

Died at the Bellefonte Hospital Monday Evening.

On Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock all that was mortal of George A. Harbaugh passed to the spirit land. His death occured at the Bellefonte Hospital where he underwent a serious operation of kidney trouble.

The deceased was one for Bellefonte's most exemplary citizens, a conscientious christian gentleman and his death is sincerely mourned by all who knew him. He was born in Harbaugh Valley, Maryland, 74 years ago on the 27th of last October and comes of one of the best families in that section of the country. While working in Baltimore, Md., at his trade as a machinist, he met and won for a life partner, Miss Susan Forest, a daughter of Joseph Forest, of Lancaster, and they were married at the latter place June 19th, 1864. Two children were the issue of this marriage both now dead.

About thirty-five years ago they moved to Bellefonte and have resided here ever since. Mr. Harbaugh was one of the best machinists in this part of the state and was employed for years by Jenkins & Lingle. Later he worked for the Standard Scale Co., going to Beaver Falls when they moved their plant there. His health failing him he returned to Bellefonte and of late has been working at the Bellefonte Central railroad shops

He was a life long member of the Lutheran church and was greatly interested in church work. He is survived by his wife, also a brother and two sisters, who reside in California.

The funeral services were held at the house on West Curtin street this afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will be conducted by Rev. W. M. Rearick, pastor of the Lutheran church. The remains will be taken to Lancaster Friday morning on the 6.40 train. Interment at that place.

Improvements at the Steam Heat Works.

The Bellefonte Steam and Gas Company are making some extensive improvements at their plant on Lamb street Superintendent Taylor has the works in excellent shape, or will have when improvements are completed, and more lines of gas and steam pipes are connected to this plant than ever before in its history. If Robert McKnight, one of the Superintendents of the earlier days could see it now he would open his eyes in astonishment.

Among the improvements being made are a new brick stack which the Wallace Brothers of Milesburg are erecting. It will be 75 feet high when completed and inside is 5 feet sqnare. The company has also added a new boiler of the latest improved pattern.

They have also added a labor saving invention known as a torpedo for cleaning the inside of boilers. It is operated by steam and makes 1000 strokes of the hammer a minute. It used to be that they could not clean the boilers until the end of the season when the fires were drawn and men entered the boilers and did the work with a great deal of time and trouble. This invention is a great labor saver.

Monday the Potter—Hoy Hardware Company had the city steam installed in place of their private plant.

Child in Philipines Heir.

According to the will of the late William E. Davis, of Indiana county, the real estate was bequeathed to his two grandson, Evan D. and L. O. Williams. During the Spanish American war Evan D. Williams went to the Philippines where he enlisted in the regular army, and shortly after being mustered out, he married a native girl the daughter of a wealthy planter. Their union was blessed by a child. In December, 1901, while crossing a river in a boat with a number of native workman, Mr. Williams was murdered for his money. His child will become heir to half interest in a farm in Indiana county.

White Woman weds Chinaman.

Pearl L. Cole, a white woman, and Charley Wing, a Chinaman, were married by Alderman Batzle on Monday evening at Williamsport. Charley is a laundryman aged 37 and a widower, while Pearl's age is 21.

A Card of Thanks.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bellefonte Hospital return their sincere thanks for the Thanksgiving donation of $15.00 from the Methodist church and also to the Ladies Auxiliary of Centre Hall for a cash donation of $5.00

RUSSIA WILL FLOW WITH BLOOD!

Government Has Thrown the Gauntlet.

STRUGGLE TO DEATH

St. Petersburg Takes an Appearance of the Old Regime as Patrols are Doubled

SUPREME EFFORT TO CRUSH REBELLION

St. Petersburg, Sunday, December 10th.—Reaction and revolution confront each other in a death struggle. Both General Trepoff and General Count Ignatieff, according to the popular impression, are being held in reserve to execute the program of repression. It is again said that the entire Cossack strength of 400,000 will be mobilized in a supreme effort to crush the revolutionary forces.

General Parsenoff said: I think we are coming to rivers of blood in which the revolutionary party will lose their game and Russia her liberty."

BLACK PICTURE OF FUTURE.

Certainly the appearance of St. Petersburg and the events here today seemed to justify this black picture of the future. The hospital resembles a great military camp. The patrols everywhere were doubled and grim looking cannon rumbled through the streets. What happened smacked strangely of the old regime.

A large workmen's meeting was dispersed by Cossacks. The building in which the executive committee of the League of Leagues meets was surrounded by troops and no one was permitted to enter it, the colonel in command replying to all inquiries "I have my orders." At the time a vast meeting of Loyalists was freely permitted, at which speeches were made extolling the Emperor and the government.

THE FUNERAL OF SAKHAROFF.

To cap the climax the funeral of Lieutenant General Sakharoff, former Minister of War, who was assassinated at Saratoff December 5th, with an imposing array of military representing all arms of the service—artillery horse guards and foot soldiers—passed up the Nevsky Prospect between sullen crowds.

The remnants of the Workmen's Council with delegates from the rail road men's union and other organizations, are holding a meeting tonight to decide the question of a general strike.

If the government deliberately plans a challenge now, it has chosen its time well, as the funds of the organizations are low and many workmen are tired of the strike and of starvation It is understood that when M. Krustaleff was arrested yesterday a cash box containing $4,000 was captured. Some of the leaders have lashed themselves into fury and are urging that the government's challenge must be immediately accepted.

The Hunting Season is at an End.

The legal hunting season which opened October 15th, came to a close Thursday. The season just closed was not a very successful one, especially for quail, which were unusually scarce. The scarcity of these birds is attributed to the severe winter that prevailed last year, when many of the birds were frozen to death. It is reported by the farmers that they found the bodies of many of these birds on their places in the early spring. Pheasants abounded in various places throughout the state, while insome sections where they were known to abound in previous years none were to be found. Rabbits were also very scarce, and but few were bagged by local Nimrods during the season and especially in the immediate neighborhood. There were several flocks of wild turkeys on the hills adjacent, and a number of hunters succeeded in getting some of them. Deer were said to be no more numerous than in any previous season. As these animals do not inhabit the immediate mountainous country, it is necessary for hunters to go to their haunts, which is in the wilds of the adjacent counties. Many hunting parties went out and not many came home with trophies. The season just closed was not a good one for successful hunting owing to the dryness of the woods, which gave the game ample time to flee from the hunter.

A BEAUTIFUL SERVICE

Consecrating the New Altar in St. John's Catholic Church.

With a beautiful and appropriate service, the handsome new marble altar in St. John's Catholic church was consecrated Tuesday morning, the services beginning at 7 o'clock and lasting for two hours.

What gave added interest to the event was the presence of Rt. Rev. Eugene A Garvey, Bishop of the Altoona Diocese, and one of the most distinguished prelates in the state, who had charge of the services. He was assisted by Father Cordori and Father Maucher of Lock Haven; Father Corcoran, of Snow Shoe; Father Kelly, of Tyrone and Father McArdle, of Bellefonte.

The altar was the gift of the Brockerhoff family and is a beautiful as well as costly piece of workmanship. It is entirely of marble and very handsomely carved.

The services were largely attended.

A Fatal Kick.

Michael Frank, a prominent and wealthy citizen of Prairie township, Jewell county, Kansas, died Friday, Nov. 24th, from the kick of a horse. Mr. Frank had been butchering a pig and while the blood was still on his clothes, he attemped to pare the hoof of a horse The hore, smelling the blood, began to plunge, and finally broke away Mr. Frank's daughter then caught it by the long rope attached to its halter, and led it to her father Mr. Frank was pulling the horse to him, when it again began to plunge, and whirling, kicked him in the stomach. This was on Wednesday and on the following Friday Mr Frank died He was fifty seven years old. Mrs. Frank is a sister of Mrs. D. N. Ertel, of Valley Falls, Kansas. The latter and Mr. and Mrs. Chas F. Schafer, of Jewell City, attended the funeral

Mr. Frank was a son of Michael Frank, of Haines township, deceased, and is survived by a widow, (a daughter of Levi Long, of Madisonburg,) and the following sisters: Mrs. H E. Duck, Mrs. W. H Smith, Mrs. Henry M Swartz, all of Millheim.

Honest in Millions; Thief for Hundreds.

Trusted by many banks and business houses, for which he has been a messenger, making daily trips to and from Philadelphia, carrying several million dollars in the last year, Charles I. Kinderline of Reading admitted that he had resisted the temptations laid before him in his line of business, but had fallen when he saw the opportunity of robbing a wholesale notion store.

Kinderlins, who is an ex-police sergeant, was caught Saturday night robbing a store. In his pocket was secreted a key opening the front door.

He made no attempt to deny his intentions, and admitted that he been robbing the store for six or seven weeks. The value of the stolen goods will amount to a few hundred dollars.

"I cannot tell when I was first tempted," he said. "The disgrace to my family is more than I can bear. I only ask my friends to look upon me as unfortunate man who has made a great mistake."

Spry at 134 years of Age.

"Thank the Lord I'm still feeling pretty spry," replied "Mother" Mary McDonald, at the Home for Aged and Infirm Colored Persons, Belmont and Girard avenues, on Monday, the occasion of her 134th birthday. The aged negress has just laid aside her corncob pipe, which she has used ever since her girlhood, never having found the use of tobacco inimicable to longevity. She has her smoke after every meal.

"Mother" McDonald, a great favorite in the home has been an inmate since 1887. She was born in Frogtown, near Valley Forge, Nov. 13, 1771, and when a child went to live as a servant with the family of Ruse Howell. She remembered incidents of the memorable winter the American army spent at Valley Forge, and said: "The guns were always going off and skeert us at night."

Her four grandsons, ranging in age from sixty to seventy years, come to see her regularly, and until his death a month and a half ago, her son-in-law, who was past ninety, came whenever he could.—Burlington, Mo., Post

WERE BURNED TO DEATH!

Six Children at Lindsey Near Punxsutawney.

MINER AND DESTITUTE

Their Parents, William Morgan and Wife, Barely Escaped With Their Lives-Mrs. Morgan Badly Burned.

STATEHOOD QUESTION DISCUSSED

DuPois, Pa., Dec. 13.—Six children were burned to death at Lindsey, near Punxsutawney, at an early hour Tuesday and Wm. Morgan and wife, the parents, with their two remaining children, barely escaped with their lives. The names of those burned to death are:

Thomas, aged 11; Pearl, aged 6; Grace and Ethel, aged 3; Rachael, aged 18 months and an infant aged 3 months.

Both the father and mother were badly burned in attempts to save their little ones from their burning home. The mother threw two of the children from an upstairs window, thereby saving their lives, and jumping herself as the roof fell in. She was badly burned and she will probably lose one foot as a result of her injuries The father is also badly burned about the hands and face but not seriously. The fire was discovered by a neighbor who hastened to the burning house and aroused the sleeping inmates At that time the whole roof and rear of the house were burning. The fire originated from a stove in a small outbuilding adjoining the home of the family. Morgan came to Lindsey from West Virginia only a short time ago. He is a miner and is left destitute. Subscriptions have been started at Punxsutawney and Du- to raise a fund for the unfortunate.

STATEHOOD QUESTION.

Washington, Dec. 13.—The house will dispose of the statehood question before the holiday recess, according to the plan formulated Tuesday. The precise manner in which statehood is to be granted to the four territories will be set forth in what is known as the Hamilton bill, giving statehood to Arizona and New Mexico as one state and to Oklahoma and the Indian Territory as another. The bill embobies the minor provisions agreed upon by the conference of the two houses at the last session of congress.

The plan for statehood legislation will be made specific at a republican caucus of members of the house to be called today for Thursday afternoon or evening. Besides declining on its provisions, it is the plan that the terms of a role shall be agreed upon in caucus under which the bill will go through the house. There is known to be some republican opposition to statehood as proposed in the bill, but this opposition is not regarded as serious enough to hinder the carrying out of the plan of the house leaders and may not be manifest in any way. It has been decided that hearings on the statehood question are necessary.

MANY LIVES SAVED.

By the Presence of Mind of the Pennsy Operator at Wilcox.

Renovo, Dec., 11th.—A very serious accident was averted early Friday morning by the quick wit of the operator at Wilcox. No. 80, a freight eastward bound was seen by the operator to be "running away," as the trainmen say, when they lose control of the train on Kane hill. The operator thought at once of the oncoming flyer, due in a few minutes, and in the very nick of time succeeded in sidetracking No. 80, which ran into another freight, causing considerable damage to cars, and injuring Mr. Wanamaker and Mr. Fetter, although not seriously. The heroes are not all in books.

Poisoner Works on Valuable Horses.

Following the disembowling of two valuable horses at Altoona Saturday night, some person entered the stable of James Tomlinson Sunday night and poisoned two prized horses. They are not expected to live. The outrage has so enraged citizens of the city that a popular subscription is being taken for a reward for the capture of the criminal. More than $500 has been raised.

Woodring—Turner Nuptials.

On last Thursday Dec. 7th, at 11 o'clock, the Central hotel, Port Matilda; was the scene of a very pretty home wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Edith Woodring the pretty and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Bella Woodring, and Leroy Turner, of Avonmore, Pa. At 10:55 Mr. C. E. Duncan, of Shamokin, accompanied by his sister Allie led the way to the piano, and as Miss Duncan impressively played Mendelsohns wedding march the attendants Miss Frances Woodring, of Lemont, a cousin of the bride and Geo. Woodring, the brides brother came leading the way to the parlor which had been beautifully decorated with potted plants, fern, evergreen etc., next came Miss Lula Adams, of Avonmore and Howard Turner, brother of the groom, as these four reached the floral arch and paused for a moment the bride and groom slowly entered the parlor and joining the attendants and Rev. Bergen, of the Presbyterian church beneath the arch, and as Miss Duncan very softly played the piano, Rev. Bergen joined them, using the Presbyterian ceremony, and surrounded by about 125 guests. The bride wore white silk landsdown trimmed in French valenciennes lace and carried brides roses, the groom wore the conventional black. The maid of honor was also dressed in white landsdown and carried pink roses. After congratulations the wedding dinner was served. Seated at the brides table was the bride and groom, four attendants, Miss Duncan, who played the wedding march and Rev. Bergen. All join in thanking Mrs Woodring for the manner in which she so completely satisfied so many hungry guests, after all had so willingly made gluttons of themselves, or at least Mr Arch Woodring. The bride and groom made a hurried exit for the 12:49 train, yet not without the usual amount of rice and old shoes, or anything within reach. However they succeed in escaping without any baggage, leaving for Harrisburg and Washington, for a week's honey moon trip After their return they will reside at Avonmore where the groom holds a lucrative position with the P. R. R. Co.

Guests were present from various points including Clearfield, Madera, Avonmore, Shamokin, Tyrone, Bellwood, Mt. Union, Altoona, Lemont, Milesburg, Homer City, and Gordon, Pa.

The bride was the recipient of many useful presents, such as silver ware table knives and forks, spoons, carving sets, table linen of all kinds, dishes china ware, cut-glass and best of all, a full kitchen set down to a rolling pin, the gift of Gilbert Eller. The day was a most perfect one and all join in wishing Mr and Mrs. Turner a future as bright and cheerful as was their wedding day A Guest.

Mrs. North, Grand Templar of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle was present and delivered an interesting and eloquent address advocating the organizing of a Ladies Temple in Bellefonte. Other addresses were delivered by J. Kennedy Johnston and A. Lukenbach.

There were about 160 ladies and gentlemen present and the project of the organizing of a Ladies Temple was well received. About 25 ladies at once signified their intention to join and a meeting will be held next Monday night to further the project.

After the meeting choice refreshments were served to the large number of people present which were highly enjoyed.

Big Fire at Tyrone.

Tyrone was threatened with destruction by fire Monday. While the department was busy fighting the flames consuming J. R. Condo's house, the water supply gave out, and the engines were taken to "Big Spring." Thus much time was lost and the fire spread to the dwellings occupied by J. W. Sellers and William Oster.

A wind storm prevailing at the time carried burning brands thoughout the town, and four buildings in as many sections were ignited. Great excitement prevailed, but the incipient fires were extinguished with little loss. The Condo, Sellers and Oster homes were destroyed. The fire was caused by sparks from a flue. The loss was $10,000.

STATE HEALTH COMMISSIONER.

Samuel G. Dixon on the Compulsory Attendance.

IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The Vaccination Law and Other Matters Discussed by the State Health Officers.

GOOD WORK FIGHTING DREAD DISEASE

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 7.

State Health Commissioner Samuel G. Dixon was asked today what effect the opinion rendered by the Attorney General, Hampton L. Carson, that the parents could not be fined under the Compulsory Attendance Law in cases where the children had been debarred from school for not being successfully vaccinated, would have upon the efforts Department of Health is making to have the vaccination law enforced throughout the schools of this State.

"I do not see," the Commissioner of Health replied, "that it should have any effect whatever, as the Attorney General does not in any way question the duty of the teachers to obey the law of the Commonwealth and that is all we have ever asked them to do.

"That brings up a point that I would like to make plain. The teachers in charge of schools in Pennsylvania are not required to refuse admission to children until they are vaccinated, because the Department of Health has so ordained. It is the law of the Commonwealth, a law passed for the protection of the public health and as the safeguarding of the health of the Pennsylvania has been entrusted to this Department, the Commissioner proposes to see to it that this health law passed by the State legislature and approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth on June 18, 1895 and still in full force, is carried out.

"In this determination I have the cooperation of hundreds of local Boards of Health throughout the State, School Directors, and the teachers themselves.

"Of course there has been opposition. This was to be expected. In some cases School Directors themselves have opposed the enforcement of the law and have gone so far as to instruct their teachers to admit children regardless of whether they had been vaccinated. In despair the teachers have written to this Department. They say: "We want to obey the law of the Commonwealth but our School Board has ordered us to violate it, telling us that we will lose our heads if we refuse the children admission." I can fully appreciate the difficult position that this places the teacher in. Parents and School Directors combine to influence such a teacher to become a law breaker. The only answer I could give has been to quote the law: "All principals or other persons in charge of schools as aforesaid (meaning public, private, parochial, Sunday or other schools) are hereby required to refuse admition to any child to the schools under their charge or supervision, except upon a certificate signed by a physician setting forth that such child has been successfully vaccinated, or that it has previously had smallpox.'

I have answered nearly fifty letters a day on the subject of vaccination for the past three months and four hundred thousand vaccination blanks have been sent out upon request and we are still sending out about fifteen hundred blanks a day in packages from fifty up. As these requests are coming in many cases from districts that had been opposing the enforcement of the vaccination law, we know that these districts have decided to stand with us on the side of the law and for the protection of the Public Health.

Many teachers write and say that children come to school with letters from their family physician stating that the child's health is not such that it should be vaccinated. The teachers ask what they shall do. I have written that such letters cannot be accepted in place of the legal certificates of vaccination and regarding this point the Attorney General in his recent opinion says: "I perceive no legal authority for the acceptance by any teacher of a certificate of a doctor that a child should not be vaccinated. This would nullify the law requiring such a certificate."

"The Commissioner of Health, Dr. Dixon, has made a number of addresses of late in different parts of the State explaining his efforts to have the vaccination law enforced and his reason for believing that the public health demands that it should be enforced. Reports from Chambersburg where he spoke recently and where on Nov. 1, the teachers excluded nearly five hundred children who had failed to produce certificates, show that these children are now being vaccinated and the law is being complied with.

Hand in hand with the Commissioner's campaign against the dread disease small-pox, is going his work of fighting diphtheria. From the five hundred stations that he has established throughout the State for the free distribution of Antitoxin for those who cannot afford to pay for the serum, this Antitoxin is being given out promptly and the reports that come in of the lives of the little children that are being saved are most gratifying.

UNSEEN DANGER IS ON OUR TRACK

From the time of our birth till we lie down for the last time.

The best defense from the dangers of disease is vigor of body and activity of the natural functions.

The kind of assistance is important. It must not be stimulation for that gives but temporary effect, and the reaction is more than depressing. Take a tonic—one that will re-establish normal digestion and assimilation and prove a reconstructive rather than a promoter of waste. This will give nature a fair chance to put in motion normal work of repair and tissue building.

Such a tonic was grown in Nature's Laboratory, hidden in the ground and brought thence forty years ago by Dr. R. V. Pierce, who has made the treatment of lingering diseases his life-long study and care.

He uses glyceric extracts instead of alcoholic ones, exactly proportioned and combined by processes of his own invention, first used in his private practice and now given out freely to the world in his "Golden Medical Discovery," which is composed of Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

Mrs. A. T. Jones, of 926 Hayes Street, San Francisco, Cal., writes: "As a child I was delicate, and great care was taken of me because some of my relatives had died of consumption, although my father and mother were healthy. I grew up with only the ordinary diseases of all children, but about two years ago I contracted a severe cold, which would not yield to such home-treatment as was handy. Doctors were tried, but after three months of this treatment I was only worse. Then I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and am glad to say that three bottles not only cured me of the cold and cough, but made me feel better than I ever had before. I will always have a bottle of this medicine in the house."

Pierce's Pleasant Pellets These tiny, sugar-coated antibilious granules regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Do not beget the "pill habit," but cure constipation. One or two each day for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once tried always in favor. Put up in vials; always fresh and reliable.

Another Fatal Accident,

Wm. H. Welch, of Northwood, a brakeman on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad, while at his work on an extra freight train southbound Wednesday afternoon, met with an accident which resulted in his death The fatality occurred at the summit on the Cambria and Clearfield railway at 2 o'clock.

He was putting on a brake when the shaft broke and he fell to the track between two cars. His left leg was terribly mutilated, the knee being dislocated and the upper part of the limb being lacerated to the thigh. He was also cut and bruised about the body. passing away at 7:30 in the evening.

William H. Welch was a son of Robert and Elizabeth Welch, of Vail. He was born at Fowler, Centre county, and was aged 30 years and 4 months. He had been railroading for several years and was well known and respected by all who knew him. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Pennsylvania Railroad Relief association. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, also his parents, 4 brothers and 2 sisters.

Hicks for December

The first storm period was central on the 4th and 5th. The second storm period is central on the 11th. By the 9th the barometer will fall decidedly in western parts, the temperature will rise, cloudiness will increase, and marked storms of winter rain and wind will appear in most sections. As these storms advance eastward they will turn to general snow storms and blizzards in all northerly directions. Watch the culmination from about the 11th to the 13th. The last stages of these storms will be attended and followed by a very high barometer and a severe cold wave.

The third storm period is central on the 15th, 16th and 17th. Sudden changes to quite warm often followed by winter lightning and thunder, are natural results at these storm period. Hence the present period as well as other December periods, is apt to commence with decidedly rising temperature and falling barometer. Rains will quickly follow and these in turn will end in snow and a severe and sudden revulsion to high barometer, high northerly gales and cold wave.

The fourth storm period is central on the 22nd, extending from the 20th to the 25th. Beyond reasonable doubt, this will prove one of, if not the most general and severe storm period of the month. It will come in during a time of unsettled and threatening weather, but greatly increased storm conditions will appear about the 21st. The barometer will be unsettled and falling all over the western sections. A warm spell for December will follow the low barometer resulting in general rains from Friday the 22nd to Monday the 25th. Not far from Christmas day the storms will culminate in heavy rain and wind with thunder storms in southern states, turning to snow and blizzards immediately behind the storms of rain, winding up with a very high barometer, fierce northerly gales and a sweeping cold wave. This cold wave will be felt in greater or less severity to the Gulf of Mexico. Should a very low barometer exist over the extreme southern states over the progress of the storms, at their conclusion frosts and freezing will reach the gulf.

The fifth storm period is central on the 27th, 28th and 29th. The indications are that generally unsettled weather, with desultory storms and storminess, will follow the last regular period, and that cold clearing weather will prevail as the month and year goes out.

MARK TWAIN'S BIRTHDAY SPEECH

Tells How to Live to Seventy and Not Mind It.

REVEALS RECIPE FOR A LONG LIFE

Genial Humorist Says He Has Completed Biblical Span of Life by Sticking to a Scheme Which Would Kill Others—Goes to Bed With Regular Irregularity—Gets Up When He Has To—Tells Why He Was the First Standard Oil Trust.

Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), the greatest of living humorists, was the guest of honor the other night at a dinner at Delmonico's in New York given by Colonel George Harvey in honor of the humorist's seventieth birthday anniversary.

William Dean Howells was called upon to offer the toast to Mr. Clemens. He said he would make it in the form of a double barreled sonnet, and proposed the health of the Father of the American Joke, with the wish that he might live as long as he liked. Mr. Howells then read the following poem:

A traveler from the old world, just escaped
Our customs with his life, had found his way
To a place uptown, where a colossus shaped
Itself, skyscraper high, against the day.
A vast smile, dawning from its mighty lips,
Like sunshine on its visage seemed to brood;
One eye winked in perpetual eclipse;
In the other a huge tear of pity stood.
Wisdom in chunks about its temples shone;
Its measureless bulk grotesque exultant rose,
And, while Titanic puissance clothed it on,
Patience with foreigners was in its pose.
So that, "What art thou?" the emboldened traveler spoke,
And it replied: "I am the American joke.

"I am the joke that laughs the proud to scorn;
I mock at cruelty; I banish care;
I cheer the lonely, chipper the forlorn;
I bid the oppressor and hypocrite beware.
I tell the tale that makes men cry for joy;
I bring the laugh that has no hate in it;
In the heart of age I wake the undying boy;
My big stick blossoms with a thornless wit.
The lame dance with delight in me; my mirth
Reaches the deaf untrumpeted; the blind
My point can see. I jolly the whole earth,
But most I love to jolly my own kind.
Joke of a people great, gay, bold and free,
I type their master mood. Mark Twain made me."

Humorist, philosopher and poet spoke in turn in Mark Twain's speech on "How to Get to Be Seventy and Not Mind It" in answer to the toast. He began with a whimsical diary of his first day, recited in that inimitable drawl quaint formulae for promoting a reliable longevity, and then in a voice low, yet resonant and clear, and in words which flowed as if to music far away, he told of life beyond the allotted span. His auditors at first were convulsed with laughter; they were beguiled into delightful byways, and when the last line was spoken they were on the verge of tears.

"I remember that first birthday well," said Mr. Clemens. "Whenever I think of it it is with indignation. Everything was so crude, so unaesthetic. Nothing was really ready. I was born, you know, with a high and delicate aesthetic taste. And then think of it—I had no hair, no teeth, no clothes. And I had to go to my first banquet like that.

"And everybody came swarming in. It was the merest little hamlet in the backwoods of Missouri where never anything happened at all. All interest centered in me that day. They came with that peculiar provincial curiosity to look me over and to see if I had brought anything fresh in my particular line. Why, I was the only thing that had happened in the last three months, and I came very near being the only thing that happened there in two whole years.

"They gave their opinions. No one had asked them, but they gave them, and they were all just green with prejudice. I stood it as long as—well, you know, I was born courteous. I stood it for about an hour; then the worm turned. I was the worm. It was my turn to turn, and I did turn. I knew the strength of my position. I knew that I was the only spotlessly pure person in that camp, and I just came out and told them so.

"It was so true that they could make no answer at all. They merely blushed and went away. Well, that was my cradle song, and now I am singing my swan song. It is a far stretch from that first birthday to this, the seventieth. Just think of it!

"The seventieth birthday! It is the time of life when you arrive at a new and awful dignity; when you may throw aside the decent reserves which have oppressed you for a generation and stand unafraid and unabashed upon your seven terraced summit and look down and teach—unrebuked. You can tell the world how you got there. It is what they all do. I have been anxious to explain my own system this long time, and now at last I have the right.

"I have achieved my seventy years in the usual way—by sticking strictly to a scheme of life which would kill anybody else. It sounds like an exaggeration, but that is really the common rule for attaining old age. When we examine the programme of any of these garrulous old people we always find that the habits which have preserved them would have decayed us. I will offer here, as a sound maxim, this: That we can't reach old age by another man's road.

"I will now teach, offering my way of life to whomsoever desires to commit suicide by the same method which has enabled me to beat the doctor and the hangman for seventy years. Some of the details may sound untrue, but they are not. I am not here to deceive; I am here to teach.

"We have no permanent habits until we are forty. Then they begin to harden, presently they petrify, then business begins. Since forty I have been regular about going to bed and getting up, and that is one of the main things. I have made it a rule to go to bed when there wasn't anybody left to sit up with, and I have made it a rule to get up when I had to. This has resulted in an unswerving regularity of irregularity. It has saved me sound, but it would injure another person.

"In the matter of diet, which is another main thing, I have been persistently strict in sticking to the things which didn't agree with me until one or the other of us got the best of it. Until lately I got the best of it myself, but last spring I stopped frolicking with mince pie after midnight. Up to then I had always believed it wasn't loaded. For thirty years I have taken coffee and bread at 8 in the morning and no bite nor sup till 7:30 in the evening, eleven hours. That is all right for me. Headachy people would not reach seventy comfortably by that road. And I wish to urge upon you this—which I think is wisdom—that if you find you can't make seventy by any but an uncomfortable road don't you go. When they take off the Pullman and retire you to the rancid smoker put on your things, count your checks and get out at the first way station where there's a cemetery.

"I have made it a rule never to smoke more than one cigar at a time. I have no other restriction as regards smoking. I do not know just when I began to smoke. I only know that it was in my father's lifetime and that I was discreet. He passed from this life early in 1847, when I was a shade past eleven. Ever since then I have smoked publicly. As an example to others, and not that I care for moderation myself, it has always been my rule never to smoke when asleep and never to refrain when awake. It is a good rule. I mean for me. But some of you know quite well that it wouldn't answer for everybody that's trying to get to be seventy.

"I smoke in bed until I have to go to sleep. I wake up in the night, sometimes once, sometimes twice, sometimes three times, and I never waste any of these opportunities to smoke. This habit is so old and dear and precious to me that if I should break it I should feel as you, sir, would feel if you should lose the only moral you've got (meaning the chairman) if you've got one. I am making no charges. I will grant here that I have stopped smoking now and then for a few months at a time, but it was not on principle; it was only to show off; it was to pulverize those critics who said I was a slave to my habits and couldn't break my bonds.

"Today it is all of sixty years since I began to smoke the limit. I have never bought cigars with life belts around them. I early found that those were too expensive for me. I have always bought cheap cigars—reasonably cheap, at any rate. Sixty years ago they cost me $4 a barrel, but my taste has improved latterly, and I pay $7 now. Six or seven—seven, I think; yes, it's seven. But that includes the barrel. I often have smoking parties at my house, but the people that come have always just taken the pledge. I wonder why that is?

"As for drinking, I have no rule about that. When the others drink I like to help; otherwise I remain dry by habit and preference. This dryness does not hurt me, but it could easily hurt you, because you are different. You let it alone.

"Since I was seven years old I have seldom taken a dose of medicine and have still seldomer needed one. But up to seven I lived exclusively on allopathic medicines. Not that I needed them, for I don't think I did; it was for economy. My father took a drug store for a debt, and it made cod liver oil cheaper than the other breakfast foods. We had nine barrels of it, and it lasted me seven years. Then I was weaned. The rest of the family had to get along with rhubarb and ipecac and such things because I was the pet. I was the first Standard Oil trust. I had it all. By the time the drug store was exhausted my health was established, and there has never been much the matter with me since. But you know very well it would be foolish for the average child to start for seventy on that basis. It happened to be just the thing for me, but that was merely an accident. It couldn't happen again in a century.

"I have never taken any exercise except sleeping and resting, and I never intend to take any. Exercise is loathsome, and it cannot be any benefit when you are tired; I was always tired. But let another person try my way and see where he will come out. I desire now to repeat and emphasize that maxim, 'We can't reach old age by another man's road.' My habits protect my life, but they would assassinate you.

"I have lived a severely moral life, but it would be a mistake for other people to try that or for me to recommend it. Very few would succeed. You have to have a perfectly colossal stock of morals, and you can't get them on a margin. Morals are an acquirement, like music, like a foreign language, like piety, poker paralysis; no man is born with them. I wasn't myself. I started poor. I hadn't a single moral. There is hardly a man in this house that is poorer than I was then. Yes, I started like that, the world before me, not a moral in the slot, not even an insurance moral.

"I can remember the first one I ever got. I can remember the landscape, the weather, the—I can remember how everything looked. It was an old moral, an old secondhand moral, all out of repair, and didn't fit anyway. But if you are careful with a thing like that and keep it in a dry place and save it for processions and Chautauquas and world's fairs, and so on, and disinfect it now and then and give it a fresh coat of whitewash once in awhile, you will be surprised to see how well she will last and how long she will keep sweet, or at least inoffensive. When I got that moldy old moral she had stopped growing, because she hadn't had any exercise, but I worked her hard—I worked her Sundays and all. Under this cultivation she waxed in might and stature beyond belief and served me well and was my pride and joy for sixty-three years; then she got to associating with insurance presidents and lost flesh and character and was a sorrow to look at and no longer competent for business. She was a great loss to me, yet not all loss. I sold her—ah, pathetic skeleton that she was!—I sold her to Leopold, the pirate king of Belgium. He sold her to our Metropolitan museum, and it was very glad to get her, for without a rag on she stands fifty-seven feet long and sixteen feet high, and they think she's a brontosaur. Well, she looks it. They believe it will take nineteen geological periods to breed her match.

"Morals are of inestimable value, for every man is born crammed with sin microbes, and the only thing that can extirpate these sin microbes is morals. Now, you take a sterilized Christian—I mean, you take the sterilized Christian, for there's only one— Dear sir, I wish you wouldn't look at me like that.

"Threescore years and ten!

"It is the Scriptural statute of limitations. After that you owe no active duties. For you the strenuous life is over. You are a time expired man, to use Kipling's military phrase. You have served your term, well or less well, and you are mustered out. You are become an honorary member of the republic; you are emancipated; compulsions are not for you, nor any bugle call but 'lights out.' You pay the time worn duty bills if you choose, or decline if you prefer—and without prejudice, for they are not legally collectable.

"The previous engagement plea, which in forty years has cost you so many twinges, you can lay aside forever. On this side of the grave you will never need it again. If you shrink at thought of night and winter and the late homecoming from the banquet and the lights and the laughter through the deserted streets—a desolation which would not remind you now, as for a generation it did, that your friends are sleeping and you must creep in a-tiptoe and not disturb them, but would only remind you that you need not tiptoe, you can never disturb them more—if you shrink at thought of these things, you need only reply:

"'Your invitation honors me and pleases me because you still keep me in your remembrance, but I am seventy—seventy—and would nestle in the chimney corner and smoke my pipe and read my book and take my rest, wishing you well in all affection and that when you in your turn shall arrive at pier No. 70 you may step aboard your waiting ship with a reconciled spirit and lay your course toward the sinking sun with a contented heart.'"

KILLED BY A VICIOUS RAM

Aged Woman Attacked and Her Skull Broken by Animal's Horns.

Hagerstown, Md., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Ann Reed, an old woman, died at her home, near Two Locks, from injuries sustained in an attack by a ram. Mrs. Reed was crossing a field when the ram knocked her down. When found two hours later her face was covered with blood, and there were half a dozen breaks in her skull where the ram had butted her. Locks of her hair were found on the ram's horns.

PETER HENLEIN.

The Clever Locksmith's Apprentice Who Made the First Watch.

In the year 1505 there was a young apprentice to a locksmith in Nuremberg. His name was Peter Henlein. He had neither money, friends nor influence and seemed doomed to remain a simple, poor locksmith's helper all his life.

There were more than a hundred locksmiths' apprentices in Nuremberg at that time, and most of them said hopelessly that the field was overcrowded. We hear something like that every now and then in these days, too, don't we?

Nobody remembers the names of any of these apprentices today except that of Henlein. He didn't waste any time grumbling and worrying about the "overcrowded field," but sat down in his spare time tinkering at a curious machine.

When it was finished it was shaped like a drum and was just small enough to go into the big pockets of the coats of that date. What was it?

It was the first watch.

There is a general belief that these first watches were of the shape of an egg. This is not so. They were shaped like a drum and were really pretty clumsy, far more suitable for the capacious costume of a rider than for the more tightly fitting dress of a courtier or a dandy. But they kept good time and ran forty hours without needing winding.

The watchmakers of Nuremberg have erected a fine statue in honor of Peter, the apprentice of the middle ages, who found something new to do in an overcrowded profession.

Tom Lawson is saving his greatest surprise for his final article

In making a speech before the Knife and Fork Club of Kansas City, Gov. Folk naturally stabbed a few abuses in government.

In calling the Russian strikers "fellow workmen", Witte may have though of himself as one who is working the Czar.

Let it go into history as a matter of record, that the Sultan was the first man to "tame" the ultimatum and teach it to eat out of his hand.

Theo. Roosevelt Jr., may not play sultry football, but he is a gaeat coaxer of gate receipts, the same never being lost sight of in graftless college sports.

Let the Czar cheer up. It migh be worse. There are not half a dozen immediate municipal-ownership leagues in St Petersburg, each demanding recognition as the only simon-pure "immediators."

Equines at the horse show in N. Y. are suffering from pneumonia. One would think such aristocratic beasts would not have anything less than "appendicitis" If they indulge in plebeian diseases, some of the other horses will be holding up their heads and gossiping across the backyard fence about certain alleged rumors that they are neally suffering from collar sores like any old plow horse.

Look Out For This Game.

Bellefont people are not easy, but nevertheless they should be on the lookout for a swindler, who takes subscriptions in advance at cut-rates. If such should appear, unarmed with the proper credentials from the publishing house, fire him forthwith. The way he worked a lot of Sunbury people is told by The Times of that place.

For some time the Curtis Publishing company, of Philadelphia, who publish the Saturday Evening Post and the Ladies' Home Journal have offered free scholarships at any of the leading institutions of learning to the persons securing the greatest number of subscriptions to the journals. A few weeks ago a dapper young man giving the name of C. A. Roberts came to Sunbury and made a canvass for subscriptions to the Saturday Evening Post on the pretext that he was trying to win a free scholarship. The regular price of the publication is $1.75 a year, but by special arrangements he claimed to have with the company he offered it at $1.25 a year and as an inducement for payment in advance he would give the choice of a large and selected list of standard books.

From the reports coming in he was successful in landing over a hundred victims. Not receiving the premiums within a reasonable length of time one of the number wrote to the Curtis company and this week received a reply that the man is an imposter and that they would pay a reward of $25 for any information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man.

Bandits Caught; One a Girl Bride.

Although they had twelve guns between them, five bandits, one a girl of sixteen, were captured in a deserted house four miles east of Wilkinsburg. They are Robert Girton, his bride Rose, who had two loaded revolvers; Charles Johnson, the woman's brother; Frank Love and Andrew Wolfe.

William Johnson, another brother of the girle-wife, escaped. The gang has been robbing stores in Wilkinsburg for three months and several wagonloads of goods were recovered and identified by owners.

All the prisoners are young members of good Wilkinsburg families.

Obituary.

Mrs. Ellen McEwen whose death has been published with but a few passing remarks, closed her eyes to this world Nov. 16th, at Unionville her home

This venerable lady, whose earthly career extended a little beyond three score years and ten, lived a life that is deserving of special mention having been one of the good mothers, whose example is worthy of being imitated.

She married Thomas McEwen in the year 1858, who was then the father of six children, these she helped to raise besides five of her own, being a devoted and faithful mother to all, she toiled patiently and strenuously to make the most of everything, with a quiet, meek and igentle spirit, exemplifying the beauty of a well ordered life, that speaks for itself, as the flower will send out silently and unostentatiously its beauty and perfume. Early in life she united with the church and was an ardent member through her remaining years

She was active, and ambitious to the end. Sometime during last September she fell from the top of the stairs and received internal injuries, from which she never recovered. Prior to her death she spoke frequently of dying with the assuring words, always, that she was ready, and planned for those remaining in the home. What a beautiful going away, ready, waiting and giving counsel to others. She went about the house the day of her death, and was out at church twice on a Sunday three weeks before her death, and communed enjoying it very much. She passed away suddenly and quietly with one of her daughters at her side, there was no time to secure help until she was beyond reach, her spirit had flown back to it. creator, freighted with fruits enough to secure for it the comforting words, "well done good and faithful, enter into the joy of thy Lord." The beautiful smile of peace and rest marked the features. Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church. Revs. Bergen and Piper officiating, a large compnny assembled, and many of her immediate friends followed her remains.

Rev. Bergen preached the sermon taking his text from, Isaiah 66-13, he dwelt upon the term mother, i s significance, and what it should mean to us. The services were impressive. Six grand sons, near one size, bore the casket away. Interment in the upper cemetery.

The surviving family are, Alonza, at Arvona, Mrs J. F. Peters, at Blue Ball William, in West Virginia, who did not receive the intelligence in time to reach home for the funeral, Mrs. Joshua Burley, of Tyrone, Mrs. W. H. Comly, of Unionville, James, at Blue Ball, Mrs. Coda Kreps, at home and Mrs. F. Crispen, at Monongahela.

Something sweet to think of a dear mothers love.
Twas a priceless jewel, 'round my heart she wove
How I long to see her, but the Angels say :
Call her not back again, she is with you every day.
Blessed, sainted mother, I can see her now.
As in days of childhood, when she kissed my brow,
'Tis my sweetest, dearest joy, when the angels say.
Call her not back again, she is with you eaeryday.

The First Chapter of "The Masqueraders" and Five Christmas Stories in the Xmas Number of the Sunday North American.

The North American promises something decidedly out of the ordinary in its issue for December 17. the Christmas edition of the Sunday paper. The management has secured six Christmas stories by the best known authors, and will also begin the serial publication of "THE MASQUERADERS," by Katherine Cecil Thurston, the novel that has been praised by all of the critics as the greatest that has been written in the past ten years

The short storries are : "A Stolen Christmas," by Mary E. Wilkins Freeman; "Davy's Christmas," by Annie Trumbull Slossom; "Solomen Crow's Christmas Pockets," by Ruth McEnery Stuart; "A Journey in Search of Christmas," by Owen Wister; "An Engineer's Christmas Story," by John A. Hill, and "The Christmas Gifts of Thaddeus," by John Kendrick Bangs.

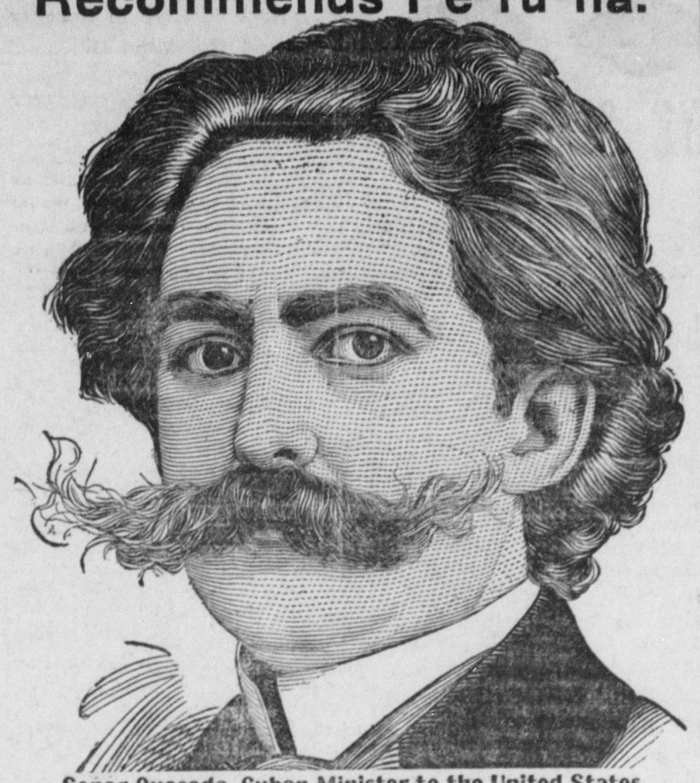
The front cover of the magazine is said to be the finest head of Kris Kringle ever printed in a newspaper. There is a poem by Peter H. Doyle that the young folks will be reciting at the holiday entertainments.

All the magazine articles and comics will be full of the Christmas spirit, and one page that will be thoroughly practical is that which tells about the cost of the Christmas presents that are bought annually in the big cities.

The edition will be limited, owing to the extra work necessitated by the speccial features, so that it will be necessary to order the paper in advance.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S.

Recommends Pe-ru-na.



Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Esteban Theater, Mantanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement; but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Marti." In a letter to The Peruna Medicine Company, written from Washington, D. C., Senor Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."---Gonzalo De Quesada.

Congressman J. H. Bankhead, of Alabama, one of the most influential members of the House of Representatives, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., gives his endorsement to the great catarrh remedy, Peruna, in the following words:

"Your Peruna is one of the best medicines I ever tried, and no family should be without your remarkable remedy. As a tonic and catarrh cure I know of nothing better."---J. H. Bankhead.

There is but a single medicine which is a radical specific for catarrh. It is Peruna, which has stood a half century test and cured thousands of cases.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. All correspondence strictly confidential.

Disobedient Boy Meets A Sad Fate in Renovo.

Renovo, Pa.—Another horrible accident occurred here Friday afternoon in the west end of the yard. A boy named Kelley in company with several other boys, climbed on a freight train when it stopped for orders before entering the yard, for the purpose of securing a free ride, but as the freight began moving he was thrown to the track and was instantly killed, being decapitated. His body was taken to the Renovo Hotel and an undertaker summoned. In the meantime one of the crew was sent to acquaint his widowed mother with the horrible facts.

The boy's father was killed in the Renovo yard a few years ago. His mother being doubly anxious on this account had taken great care to keep him away from the tracks, but the old story of disobedience is repeated and the boys no doubt will be watching a chance for a free ride before this goes to print.

Young Kelley was about 13 years old. He attended the parochial schools.

Teachers in Revolt; Threaten to Strike.

Unless better relations are established between Professor H. J. Wightman, new superintendent of the Altoona schools, and the teachers, it is feared that there will be wholesale resignations, which will practically be a strike.

Relations have been strained, said to be due to the alleged arbitrary demands of Superintendent Wightman, and it has become known that at the teachers' institute, in session last week, an organization was quietly affected to secure amelioration of conditions or precipitate a revolt.

Recently Professor Wightman posted notices that no chairs would be allowed in the school rooms, thus compelling the taachers to remain on their feet during the entire session.

Teachers complain that the rules laid down for their observance humiliate them in the eyes of the pupils, and result in a loss of effectiveness.

Dire Prophecy for Next Year.

Paris, December 12th.—A prophecy of world-wide bloodshed and horror during the year 1906 has been issued by Mme. de Thebes, who was accredited as court diviner to the superstitious Napoleon and Eugenie. It is said that she predicted the downfall of the second empire. At her vaticinations for next year the seeres says: Germany is to come very near to a smash early in the year. South America will be contorted with upheavals and the United States will be decimated by an unconquered epidemic. Madame sums it up as a strange, extravagant, mad, incomprehensible, astonishing year.

Came Near Bleeding to Death.

Early Saturday morning Martha Paul, the young daughter of J. Sam Paul of Jersey Shore, came near bleeding to death.

On Thursday the little girl had her tonsils removed in Williamsport and on Friday night about 9 o'clock, the wound caused by the operation, commenced to bleed and continued to do so until 2 o'clock Saturday morning when the flow was stanched.

The little girl was very weak from the great loss of blood and for a time her condition was extremely precarious.

Yesterday she was much improved and no more trouble is anticipated.

Fire and Flames.

At Petrikin Hall on Friday evening Dec. 22nd. will be presented the spectacular production of Fire and Flames which has been the feature at Coney Island, St. Louis and this fall at Pittsburg Exposition when on the opening night the young lady who leaps from the sky scraper building in to the life preserving net lost her balance before the net was spread and lost her life, now don't think because this production is produced in the hall you will not see it as good as in the Opera House. It will be just the same, as does not take stage room to put it on, and as it is for a worthy cause, while you are buying your Christmas presents, don't forget the fireman who go out all hours of night and day in all kinds of weather to protect your homes and lives and when they come to you to purchase tickets, respond cheerfully as this will be one way of giving the boys a Christmas present and a testimonial you have for them

Those Who Never had a Million.

Some of you fellows who never had a $1,000,000 like we editors, do not know of course, of what the big pile consists. We will put you on. When you have a 1,000,000 dollar bills and pile them flat upon one another and want to take one of them off the top you will have to reach up 275 feet. If you laid them end to end you would have to walk 11½ miles. If you had that amount in silver dollars the pile would be 1¼ miles high, and so on. We know because we tried the other night, but the blamed bed slat broke and we woke up.

Deer Killed in 15 Day Season.

The deer killed in the counties, so far as we can learn, during the short, or 15 day season, was as follows: In Clinton 92, Lycoming 20, Union 25, Centre 90, and Clearfield probably less than fifty. Game Warden Hummelsbaugh, says the Clearfield Spirit, is of the opinion that the number will not reach 50. He has a record of 41 now and has kept very careful tab on the deer killed this year. The number in each county is likely to be less than estimated, as hunting stories are like fish stories, usually larger than the truth.

ANOTHER CRISIS IN RUSSIA

First Blood in Strike of Telegraphers.

TWO MEN SHOT DOWN

In A Clas h With the Strikers-The Work mans Leader is Under Arrest.

GENERAL STRIKE THROUGHOUT EMPIRE

St. Petersburg, Saturday December 9.—Another crisis is at hand involving the indefinite prolongation of the strike the probable immediate precipitation of a general strike throughout Russia and a possible final struggle between the government and the proletariat,

This change for the worse is the result of the shedding of the first blood in the telegraph strike this afternoon almost simultaneously with the action of M. Durnovo Minister of the interior, in throwing down the gauntlet to the labor organizations by arresting M. Krustaleff president of the executive committee of the Workmen's Council without warning.

About 2 o'clock several companies of Cossacks clattered through the streets leading to the headquarters of the council in Targovia street. Having barred the approaches a force of troops and police surrounded the building, after which secret service men rushed in and seized Krustaleff. The latter made no resistance and the affair was conducted quickly. It was impossible for Krustaleff to conceal the papers of the organization, in which the police evidently expect to find evidence proving the ultimate object to be an armed uprising against the government.

A disturbance in which two strike breakers were killed and a policeman and several others wounded occurred at the same hour immediately in front of the general postoffice. The strikers for two days have been seeking to persuade the volunteer and regular carriers to refuse to work. At the door of the building Saturday the strikers, enraged by the refusal of the volunteers to quit, drew knives, whereupon a carrier attempted to defend himself with a revolver. But the carrier and a companion were killed on the spot.

A squad of policemen was stood off by the strikers and workmen who sympathized with them. Both sides exchanged a fierce fusillade during which a policeman and several workmen were wounded.

As the strikers were withdrawing, a Cossack patrol came galloping to the rescue. One of the strikers turned and threw an imitation bomb, and the Cossacks wheeled in order to avoid what they presumed to be a deadly missile. The crowd managed to get in an open courtway close to the door and to escape.

CURE FOR MANY ILLS.

Apple Tea the Latest Fad In Vogue among the English.

Said to be a cure for many ills of the body, from gout to indigestion, apple tea is quite the latest thing in beverages in England, says a special London cable dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is a substitute for tea, coffee and cocoa and is the discovery of Professor Ebbard, an eminent German doctor. Apple tea is made in Germany from a particular sort of apple which will grow only in certain soil. The peel, which possesses such nourishing qualities, with about half an inch of pulp attached, is used. The pips are also used and are slowly dried according to a certain process which effectually prevents mildew or rot, and when finished appear like bits of cork.

Apple tea is made in the same way as ordinary tea, and in flavor and color very much resembles good Chinese Hyson tea.

BIG FLOATING BARN.

Lumbermen Will Take Unique Craft to Camps.

A novel sort of barn has recently been constructed at Beardstown, Ill., for a firm of lumbermen, says a Beardstown special dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

It is a floating barn, for use in the logging camps, where it always has been a hard matter to provide suitable protection for horses during the cold weather.

It is constructed like a barge and has stalls for twelve horses, room for thirty tons of hay and grain and room for men in charge. The barn can be moved about in the river bottoms where logging camps are located.

Fairest Christmas Gift.

If I were Santa Claus I know
What I would give to every boy
And every little maiden. Oh,
It would not be a painted toy,
It would not be a blushing doll
Nor any sugared thing to eat.
The same gift I would give to all
And deem the giving sweet.

If I were Santa Claus and might
To each child give the gift I chose,
The world would glow with new delight
And lose the darkest of its woes,
For I would give to every boy
And every maiden I could find
The grace to gain unbounded joy
Through merely being kind.

The Powers of the Mayor.

In view of the apparently conflicting theories in reference to limitations upon the powers of the mayors who may succeed Mr. Weaver, the Civil Service Reform Association of Pennsylvania renews its appeal for a more general consideration and support of its bill for a State Civil Service Commission.

It is almost universally recognized that it is only by concentrating the executive authority and responsibility in the Mayor that it is possible to secure a high degree of ability and efficiency.

There are however, some good citizens who fear that such a concentration of, power may lead to great dangers and abusee.

It is therefore, important to emphasize the fact that there is a method by which it is not only feasible but easy to secure the advantages of concentration, and to avoid at the same time the dangers which might otherwise exist.

There are few things that have been more clearly demonstrated by long experience than the truth, that under our form of government there can be no serious development there of bossism unless it is supported by the power to distribute the public offices and appointments as rewards for personal or political services.

The history of Philadelphia in recent years has been especially fruitful in conclusive proofs that the power to distribute appointments for private reasons is the one indispensable essential for the achievement or continuance of bossism and its accompanying evils. But while that power is a vital necessity for a boss, it is not only unnecessary but it is in many ways a grievous burden and inconvenience for the official whose dominant purpose is the promotion of public interests

Under these circumstances it is obvious that the wisest course is to provide that there should be in the Municipal, as there is in the Federal Service, a requirement that appointing officers should select their appointees from lists of persons who have been previously subjected to an open competitive examination by a separate board, and certified as having shown themselves to be the best qualified of all applicants for the positions to be filled. This was the plain and evident intent of the Bollitt Bill, and the failure of that bill to accomplish the results expected from it has been due to the fact that its Civil Service provisions were inadequate. Its most fatal defect was in vesting the control of the system in the appointing officers, who were thus enabled to make and change or ignore the rules as they pleased.

The bill which is to be submitted to the Legislature by this Association has been very carefully prepared as a remedy for the defects and omissions of the Bullitt Bill. It would establish a State Civil Board, and it would provide ample and effective methods for securing a prompt and through enforcement of the law. It is only by some legislation of this character that the cities of Pennsylvania can be fully protected from an otherwise probable revival of bossism or gang rule in the near future.

By order of the Executive Committee,
GEORGE BURNHAM, JR.,
PRESIDENT.

NOTE.—Copies of the proposed Act and other information can be obtained from The Civil Service Reform Association, 460 Drexel Building, Philadelphia

COLLEGE MEN AS FARMERS.

School of Communism Started at Harvard University.

A number of men at Harvard interested in farming are organizing themselves to conduct an ideal farm which is to be run on a co-operative scheme and which looks very much like a new school of communism, says a dispatch from Cambridge, Mass. Specific plans have not yet been made, but the general scheme has been mapped out, and at a meeting to be held soon some sort of an organization will be perfected.

A corporation or stock company probably will be formed, the funds of which will be raised by subscription. If possible a large tract of land will be bought, situated on a river and within reach of a city. The land will be divided into small farms, each man being at the head of one of them and devoting himself to a particular branch of farming. The land will, however, be held in common, and each man makes or loses according to the success of the farm as a whole.

A committee of nine has been appointed to investigate suitable sites, and they are now looking into tracts of land in New York, Virginia, Kansas and the far west. This committee will report at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Among the men interested in the scheme are well known athletes.

Coming Waxworks.

Lovely woman has found an alternative to the camera, says the London World. She has discovered that she can be modeled in wax, which is tinted according to the coloring of the individual. The effect is distinctly good, and a wax portrait is very much more a thing of beauty than a photograph.

To the Pacific Coast—to California, Oregon, Washington—round-trip, long transit and return limits, liberal stop-over privileges.

The rate is practically on the basis of one fare for the round trip. Of course, if you wish to visit both California and Oregon or Washington, the cost is slightly more.

These reduced rates are in effect on certain dates in months of May to October, inclusive. They apply from all Eastern points via Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis gateways. The Rock Island System will take you up in either Chicago or St. Louis, or at hundreds of other Middle West points and carry you to the Coast in through Standard or Tourist Sleepers with unexcelled Dining Car service. The Rock Island also affords a choice of routes: on the "Scenic" route you can stop off in Colorado—see Salt Lake City—visit Yellowstone National Park; on the "Southern" route you can go via El Paso, thru New Mexico, then "up coast" to San Francisco and on to Portland or Seattle if desired.

In short, these Pacific Coast excursions offer an unusually good chance to see our western country in a comprehensive manner.

If you desire to go only as far as Colorado, there are excursion rates in effect to that section and return, all summer long, specially reduced June 30 to July 4, August 12 and 13, and August 30 to September 4. Extension trips to Ogden or Salt Lake and return at low cost also.

From September 15 to October 31, 1905, one-way tourist or "colonist" tickets will be on sale to California and the Pacific Northwest—about half regular fare.

If interested, send name and address on this coupon, designating which booklet wanted and to what point you plan to go. Name probable date of start also, so we can advise definitely with respect to rates, etc.

Send Colorado California booklet and rates.

CHILD LABOR QUESTION!

Employment of Children Discussed at Meeting Held in Philadelphia.

ANTHRACITE COAL FIELD

Result of a Tour Made Thereof Told of By Owen H. Lovejoy of New York City.

FALSE AGE STATEMENT A CAUSE

Philadelphia, Dec. 8 Men and women prominent in the movement to restrict the employment of children of tender years, took part last night in the discussion of "the protection of children" at the December meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, which was held in Witherspoon hall, this city. Last night's meeting was preliminary to the three day's session, which the national child labor committee will begin in Washington today. There was a large attendance at the Academy meeting and the interest shown by those present was gratifying to those interested in the movement The principal speaker of the evening was Dr. Felix Adler, professor of social ethics, Columbia university. Dr. Adler told of the efforts made to restrict the employment of small children.

An address that aroused considerable interest was that made by Owen H. Lovejoy, of New York, assistant secretary of the National Child Labor committee. Mr. Lovejoy made a tour of the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania as a result of the revelations made before the anthracite coal strike commission of the employment of children in and about the mines and in silk mills of that region. After describing at length the work of the boys in the breakers and the condition of working children in that section, he said :

"Children are employed below the age prescribed by law in every anthracite colliery in Pennsylvania investigated by this committee during the past eighteen months. It is estimated that before the passage of the law last year there were not less than 9,000 or 10,000 boys under 14 working in the coal breakers, while some figures would indicate an even greater number. This was made possible by the false age statements of parents.

"With such a sworn statement a 9-year-old boy could be employed without violation of the law on the part of the employer, and there is general indifference throughout the region and a widespread feeling that such child labor is not injurious.

"A study of the field last month failed to show any important improvement since the passage of the new law. We urge that such steps shall be taken as shall exclude every child under 14 years from the coal breakers of your state."

Addresses were also made by Mary E. Richmond, secretary of the Philadelphia Society for Organized Charity; Mrs. Florence Kelley, secretary of the National Consumers' League, and Samuel McCune Lindsay, secretary of the National Child Labor committee.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

¶In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. ¶We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. ¶We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds, bronchial or lung troubles—and that, even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. ¶New trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. The Christmas Dinner.

In spite of the fact that the word dyspepsia means literally bad cook, it will not be fair for many to lay the blame on the cook if they begin the Christmas Dinner with little appetite and end it with distress or nausea. It may not be fair for any to do that—let us hope so for the sake of the cook! The disease dyspepsia indicates a bad stomach, that is a weak stomach, rather than a bad cook, and for a weak stomach, there is nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla It gives the stomach vigor and tone, cures dyspepsia, creates appetite, and makes eating the pleasure it should be.

For Thin Babies

Fat is of great account to a baby; that is why babies are fat. If your baby is scrawny, Scott's Emulsion is what he wants. The healthy baby stores as fat what it does not need immediately for bone and muscle. Fat babies are happy; they do not cry; they are rich; their fat is laid up for time of need. They are happy because they are comfortable. The fat surrounds their little nerves and cushions them. When they are scrawny those nerves are hurt at every ungentle touch. They delight in Scott's Emulsion. It is as sweet as wholesome to them.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY.

Bellefonte People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferings.

Bellefonte testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Bellefonte who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt that the cures made by Doan's Kidney Pills are thorough and lasting, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Bellefonte people saying that the cures they told of years ago were permanent. Here's a Bellefonte case:

James Rine, carpenter, of 239 High Street, says: Doan's Kidney Pills cured me in 1879 and the statement I made for publication at that time recommending this remedy was a true statement and stands good today. I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills again. I was so weak before I took the first dose that I could not put on my shoes and was hardly able to drag myself around. There were severe pains all through my back and down into my limbs. During all the years since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me I have not been troubled in this way. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to a good many people and have sent many sufferers to F. Potts Green's drug store for their first box. In no case has the result been other than satisfactory."

RIVAL FOR LAWSON PINK.

Queen Beatrice Rose, That Has Been Sold For $30,000.

The Lawson pink has a rival, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Another $30,000 flower has come upon the market. It is a new rose originated by a Washington gardener and sold by him to a florist for the same price Thomas W. Lawson once paid for the famous carnation.

This flower, believed by expert florists to be the finest rose ever grown, has been named by the purchaser Queen Beatrice. A cross between the Liberty and Mme. Chatenay, both hybrid teas, it is classed by its owner as a tea. The former is one of the most popular crimson varieties, but it is uncertain in the production of perfect blooms. Queen Beatrice has none of the faults of its parents and combines all of their good qualities. It is resistant to insect and mildew attacks and capable of forcing on the hothouse bench.

It will produce, according to the originator, four blooms to one of Bridesmaid—a thrifty bloomer—so that the cut flower dealers will have a valuable asset in the Queen Beatrice. Its color is a peculiar shade of pink, with a touch of crimson when in the bud. None of the beauty of its coloring is destroyed either in natural or artificial light. Added to this, its fragrance is believed to be equal to if not superior to that of the American Beauty, as it grows on long, straight and sturdy stems from two to three feet long, well filled out with leaves up to within six inches of the flower.

The Queen Beatrice was originated by Peter Bissett, the head gardener of Mrs. Gardiner Hubbard, the widow of the late Gardiner Hubbard, at one time president of the National Geographic society. The new rose was originated about a year ago at her suburban residence known as Twin Oaks, just outside of the national capital. Representatives of the leading florists of the country have made pilgrimages to Washington for nearly a year in an endeavor to procure this flower, and many tempting offers were made for it, but it remained for Florist F. H. Kramer to obtain the prize for $30,000.

HAPPIEST OF NATIONS.

Moscow University Professor's Verdict on Americans.

Professor Wegener of Moscow university, who passed through Berlin on his way home, has given friends in Berlin his impressions of his recent visit to America, says a special Berlin cable dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald. He says Americans ought to be the happiest people on earth, for they have the most beautiful and fertile country in the world, the most gifted and beautiful women and presiding over their government the greatest ruler in the world.

Professor Wegener says he is convinced that in the future when Russia had settled down no country will influence her so powerfully as America. "Her young men and women will look to the United States for inspiration," he says. "Colossal trading connections which in time will spring up between the two countries will cement them still closer." He looks for a time in the near future when American money will be the chief agent in developing Russian resources.

MACHINE OF THIRTY HORSEPOWER

It Leaps Ditches and Mows Down a Battalion in Two Minutes—Runs Lightly, is Turreted and Invulnerable—Twenty Ordered For the French Army—Has Great Speed In Attack and Flight.

An armored automobile "galloping" across broken country, leaping ditches like a hunting horse, impenetrable to Lebel bullets and shrapnel, firing its hidden battery at the rate of 600 rounds in sixty seconds, mowing down a battalion of infantry in two minutes and wiping out a squadron of dragoons at a hundred yard range. Such is the thing of terror with which the French army is providing itself, says a Paris correspondent of the New York American and Journal.

This sounds, I know, like the romances of our late Jules Verne or the English M. Wells, but it is all plain military fact, as witness these details which M. George Lefevre now makes public in Le Vie au Grand Air.

An order for twenty of these war chariots has been placed by the French government with a French firm. This order follows a series of experiments conducted with great secrecy on a field of military maneuvers and of which M. Lefevre was a witness. To these experiments all the heads of the military departments were invited by card, and by them the most exacting conditions were imposed on the experimenters.

It was insisted that in a state of war the automobile artillery would not be able to use the public highways and that it must be able to come to the front across any sort of country, that it must be impervious to infantry fire, that its interior organs must be effectively protected, that its crew—driving and firing—must be "out of hit," that its running period must be long and that its wheels must not be at the mercy of any destructive agent. All of these conditions were met in the most remarkable fashion.

The war automobile, which is of thirty horsepower, was seen to be completely incased in armor, yet it ran as lightly as a road machine. Neither the driver nor mechanician was visible, while the crew of the mitrailleuse were likewise invisible, being concealed in a revolving turret.

The first test was one of speed over every class of country, the result being an average rate of thirty kilometers an hour. Next came the test of the ditches, and Girardot, one of the constructors, accomplished the feat of leaping into and out of an excavation ten meters deep and twenty meters wide without break of speed.

Next came a maneuver directed against a batallion of infantry. A Hotchkiss was installed in the turret and the machine, dashing into the infantry, with its turret swinging to every quarter, succeeded in firing 1,800 rounds in three minutes. It was the unanimous opinion of the military judges that not a soldier would have remained to fight after this discharge.

Next a regiment of dragoons was sent charging into the plain, neither the crew of the war chariot nor the commander of the dragoons having been informed of the foe to be met. The war chariot did not see the dragoons until they were but 300 meters distant. Then, crashing out a hail of projectiles that would have swept half the saddles clear, it fled across country and was out of danger in a minute.

Next came the test of the war automobile's armor. A company of infantry was drawn up, the motor car remaining a stationary target. At twenty to thirty meters the Lebel bullets penetrated the armor, which is light, supple and wonderfully resisting. At fifty meters they remained imbedded in the plates. At 100 to 150 meters the bullets produced a depression and were thrown off.

Lastly the tires were attacked, and it was found that even when pierced with ten bullets they were serviceable for twenty minutes or time enough to get out of danger.

Such is the new arm, an artillery of great swiftness in attack and flight, practically invulnerable and capable in the hands of a clever handler of delivering terrific attacks in various parts of a field of battle in an exceedingly short time. It is to be hoped that these new infernal machines will so add to the horrible prospects of combat that war will soon become an impossibility.

The Early Shopper.

She's begun her Christmas shopping
From now on she'll stew and fret.
Every night she'll totter homeward
With her precious nerves upset;
Every morning she will bravely
Hurry forth again to shop.
She will start in at the basement
And work slowly to the top;
She will price about a thousand
Things she doesn't wish to buy,
And she'll paw goods over, leaving
Each department with a sigh.
She has started good and early,
So that when the rush occurs
And the people fight for trinkets
She'll have purchased all of hers.
Thus, dear lady, she explains it,
But it's very safe to bet
That up to the latest minute
She'll have something still to get.

Pianist Pugno's Wit.

Raoul Pugno, the pianist, met on the steamship on his way to New York many persons who admired him, says the New York American.

"New York is to hear great pianists this season," one of them said. "I am told that Rosenthal is to come."

Pugno smiled knowingly. He looked at his fingers for a moment and said "No" with his head.

"Why not?" he was asked.

"He knows I am to be in America," replied Pugno.

Academy News.

There are good prospects for some good basket ball games this coming season. The new team of the Academy will be strengthened by DuBarry, Walker and Acheson, who played last year together with some of the new material. The Academy should have and probably will have one of the strongest basket ball teams this year that she has ever had. Renton is the Manager and he has already scheduled a number of games. He is doing all he can to build up the team and get it into as good a condition as possible for the opening games. The Captain of the team has not as yet been elected.

The games that have already been scheduled are as follows:

January 13th—Bellefonte Academy vs. Juniata College, at Bellefonte.

January 19th—Bellefonte Academy vs. The Three C's. at Tyrone.

February 10th—Bellefonte Academy vs. The Three C's. at Bellefonte.

February 17th—Bellefonte Academy vs. Juniata College at Huntingdon.

Don Jordon a student at the Academy from Punxsutawney is confined to his bed with an attack of chickenpox.

Clyde McCarty another student from Wheeling W. Va. is ill with an attack of rheumatism.

Mr. Meyer, Professor of Mathematics was not able to attend some of his classes Tuesday on account of illness.

The new Y. M. C. A. gymnasium it is thought will be completed sometime during the last week of December. The boys are all looking forward to the opening and no doubt many will join. All the apparatus for the gymnasium has arrived and is being put into place, after completion it will no doubt be one of the best equipped gymnasiums in this part of the State.

The new heating plant is installed and is giving good satisfaction. It is cased with brick and is a very fine addition to the Academy. It is located on the hill right back of the Academy and faces Water Street.

Game Purchased Cost Buyer $36 Per Bird.

"Roy" Russ, a well known Harrisburg hotel man, pleaded guilty before a city alderman Wednesday to the illegal purchase of eleven pheasants a month ago, and paid a fine of $25 for each bird and $34 86 costs.

With the purchasing prices of the game, $11, and the fees of his attorney, the entire transaction will leave Russ "out" nearly $400, an average of about $36 for each pheasnt. And the state took the birds.

The charge was made by a deputy game warden, under the instructions of Dr. Kelbfus, secretary of the state game commission. Each bird was marked by a tiny pin, which was shown for indentification at the hearing before the Magistrate.

Asked Him to Pause.

A story comes from Milton, N. H., of an old clergyman named Goodwin. He was a tall broad-shouldered man, and was said to have the largest hands of any man for miles around.

One noon a young man named Allen was taking dinner at the elder's house. It was the elder's custom to ask a blessing at the table, and Allen had evidently had not been used to this sort of thing, for instead of waiting he began to eat. The elder raised his hand with a restraining gesture and said:

"Pause, young man."

"Paws," was the reply, "I should think to the Lord they was paws."

At Last! How Soon! How Many Will Help?

I see that Dr. Wood in his courageous sermon last Sunday night sounded the first trumpet call against the shameful conditions of our streets and "curbstone education" for our young He also advocated (which is the proposal to remedy matters) the "Curfew Law." Let us all back him up in this. Let each and every citizen who is alive to the need, and to the good, a curfew ordinance has worked every where it has been tried, and the peculiar demand for some such thing in Bellefonte, write a letter to the Republican, or some other or all of the town papers, and ad the weight of his influence to create, stir and arouse public opinion. So that our mayor and council may take the step, knowing that it is the wish of and is demanded by the most intelligent and public spirited members of the community, and that they will have the backing of public sentiment in its execution.

"Ye are not fools and weak, confusing wrong and right."

Do not be silent, but write to the editor of your paper and so give him a chance to say the strong word, ask him to publish your letter. We can do something if enough of those who ought will be willing to help, but we must create public opinion, and then exert its strength and a sufficient number of letters from those who can see the evil that undoubtedly is now unhindered, will turn the tide and bring in the "Curfew."

Signed,

A CITIZEN.

A Curfew Law For Bellefonte

Itis an evidence of a healthy and intelligent public spirit that, judging by the letter in this week's paper the sermon by the Rev. John Wood Jr. preached in the Methodist Episcopal church last Sunday evening which has been so much and favorably commented on is not to be allowed to fall to the ground without result.

Let me for one, hasten to say that I heartily approve of a "Curfew law," and that I wish we might obtain such an ordinance in Bellefonte without delay.

From what I have heard of the sermon I am first, proud of Dr Wood and second, sure he did not or could not overstate the facts which are patent to all. Our young people ought not to be allowed to roam the streets till ten and eleven o'clock at night.

Let us call on the Mayor and Council to consult with other towns which have it and then take suitable action. Let the rest of us, as citizens, insist on a "Curfew law.

Signed

GEORGE I. BROWNE.

Let us Have a Curfew Law.

EDITOR OF REPUBLICAN

Sir:

I am one of those in whom the talk about a Curfew law stirs the hope of a relief for which I have often longed. When a mother attempts to restrain her own growing children from spending so much time in parading the streets she gets the answer. "But all my friends do, and their mothers don't make any fuss". And so we have to give way to the general custom. With no father to help, to guide or protect them, the burden is heavy on my mind, and I feel as if I must speak out.

The Curfew law would be a great help to me. I wish that the others who feel as I do would say so too.

A MOTHER.
